Volunteer Roles Sought by Sacred Transformations

1. Client Liaisons to read and discuss applications with new clients. This is a valuable, early contact with each client on a case by case basis. It is instrumental building the client's confidence and empowering him/her.
2. Copy Writer to assist Sacred Transformations to develop a clear and concise brochure or flier which could be used to solidify contacts, i.e. funders, supporting tattoo facilities, client referral sources, etc. This simple paper document could attract people to learn more, direct them to the website, offer a compelling example of how ST has helped a client transform their life, etc.
3. Artists to develop promotional materials supporting Sacred Transformations. Also to think creatively about how the Sacred Transformations can harness donated or inexpensive resources in order to serve the Mission Statement and touch more lives.
4. Grant Writers – Any experience in this area is very desirable. Research and pursue any public funds, materials or resources that may be available to help serve the Sacred Transformations Mission Statement. Consider various sub-groups of our clientele. Consider options locally, in the state, and beyond.
5. Camera, sound and editing students to work on our documentary about the program.
6. "Applicant organizers" who will keep track of the demographics we are serving, and assist when that information is required.
7. Public Relations person on a full or part-time.
8. Editor to make a monthly e-newsletter, such as "constant contact" who reaches out via email, sending monthly announcements to a targeted audience.
